

How Fonn Simplified Project Management for BLDG Construction

BLDG Construction is a family-run business that helps homeowners and businesses create spaces that inspire and endure. They're known for meticulous planning, exceptional quality, and complete customer satisfaction.

Working to such high standards on multiple projects at once created a problem for Managing Director Callum Knapp: it became increasingly difficult to keep track of client messages, texts, and emails. Apart from the sheer volume of messages, Callum found emails could be a little more formal than he'd like when dealing with clients and subcontractors.

He needed a central place for all client communication. Something that could keep everything organised while also staying true to their open and friendly style.

The solution? Fonn.

“Day-to-day coordination is a lot easier with Fonn. We love the simplicity of it, and it's a huge time saver”

Since implementing Fonn, Callum considers it a lifesaver, keeping every project running as it should. He's even got his building partners on board by showing them just how simple it is: a true testament to Fonn's user-friendly design.

Fonn has been a huge time-saver for BLDG Construction. No more confusing and time-costly back-and-forth on multiple communication channels; with Fonn, clients, project managers, and subcontractors are together on one platform.

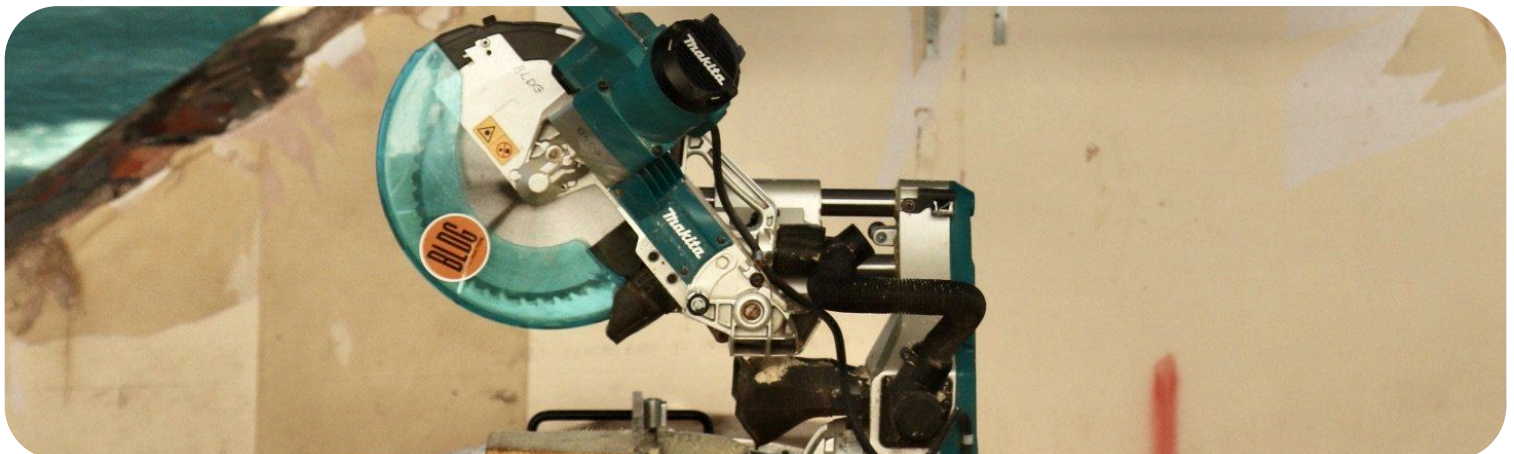

Now project information is easy to find, issues are quickly resolved, and questions are answered in record time, keeping everybody on the same page, and projects on track.

Before Fonn, price variations or subcontractor mistakes meant money was lost without anyone noticing. Now, all project details (including charts, progress photos, and prices) are logged on the platform so nothing gets missed.

“There isn’t a part of our work that Fonn hasn’t made easier in some way. It’s taken the hassle out of project management: keeping clients in the loop at every point, and making sure no detail of a job is overlooked.”

How Fonn overhauled BLDG Construction's projects

BLDG Construction has improved communication with every person on a project, simplified how they work, and saved both time and money.

Clear communication

Fonn provides a shared space for everyone to chat through project details.

With no middleman delivering messages back and forth, there's less confusion and more transparency for everyone involved.

Streamlined operations

With Fonn, Callum and his team have simplified procurement, making it easier than ever to manage supply orders and material purchases for every project they build.

Crucial details at a glance

No more scrambling to find an important file or figure. Everything from drawings to due dates can be tracked with Fonn.

Callum can check when a drawing was sent and when it's expected back, making projects more manageable and more measurable.

Timeline transparency

Fonn helps BLDG keep clients up to speed with project timelines. If any changes or delays occur outside of their control, they can quickly update the client with the new schedule.
